Latest fund report

In April, Danske Invest Hedge Fixed Income Global Value Fund provided a return of 0.45%. Year to date the return is 6.43%. Since inception in June 2018, the portfolio has provided a return of 81.56%.

April was a very volatile month for risky assets. After the 'Liberation Day' announcement high volatility particularly in equity markets followed. In the US Treasury market there was significant underperformance to interest rate swaps. Meanwhile, investors found a safe haven in German government bonds. The credit spread widening was more profound in low beta EM and credits such as bank senior debt while EUR covered bonds also widened but to a much lesser extent. The weakening in especially the Treasury market can have pushed Trump to go for the 90-day pause which fuelled a strong improvement in sentiment and bounce in equities towards the end of the month. Credit spreads ended the month only slightly wider than the starting level of the month.

2025 has the potential to remain volatile. Market focus remains centred on the next announcements from Trump as the 90 day pause approach the end. In addition, uncertainty regarding the rate path from both the ECB and the Fed remains high.

Q1 is traditionally the busiest quarter of the year in global fixed income markets. We expect high issuance activity to continue in Q2 which could provide attractive opportunities amid high volatility. Issuers will try to take advantage of lower volatility periods. Meanwhile, the need for additional funding to increased defence spending is putting upside risk to this year's sovereign funding outlook.

At the end of April the portfolio risk level (in terms of Value-at-Risk) is 31% below our maximum risk limit, which is slightly higher compared to the end of last month. We are ready to increase or decrease the risk utilisation in the fund in the coming months depending on the opportunities that may arise.

Historical returns are no reliable indicator of future returns. It should be noted that monthly returns (in per cent) are non-additive.
